

Cutting the boards

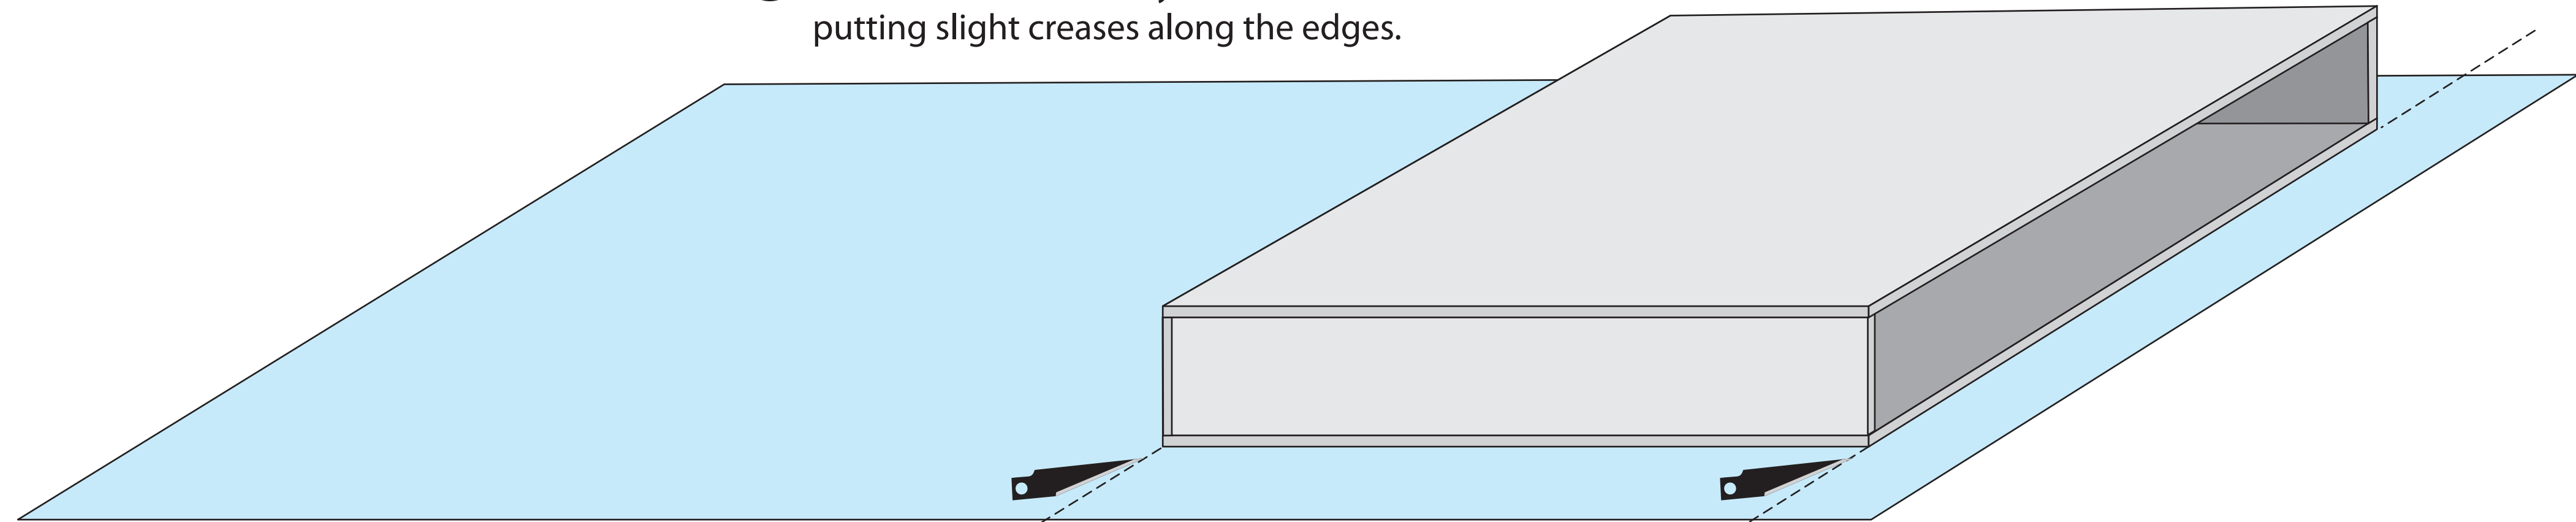

Gluing the box

Wrapping the box

- Apply glue to the back board,
and set the box on top of the book cloth.
- 5 Burnish the cloth with your bone folder,
putting slight creases along the edges.

- 6 After gluing the back board,
cut 4 slits parallel to the edge
(top and bottom) from the edge of the box off the edge of the cover cloth.

Wrapping the box

7

Apply glue to the spine board, and roll the box onto the glue, making the cloth smooth and tight. Burnish the cloth with your bone folder, putting slight creases along the edges.

8

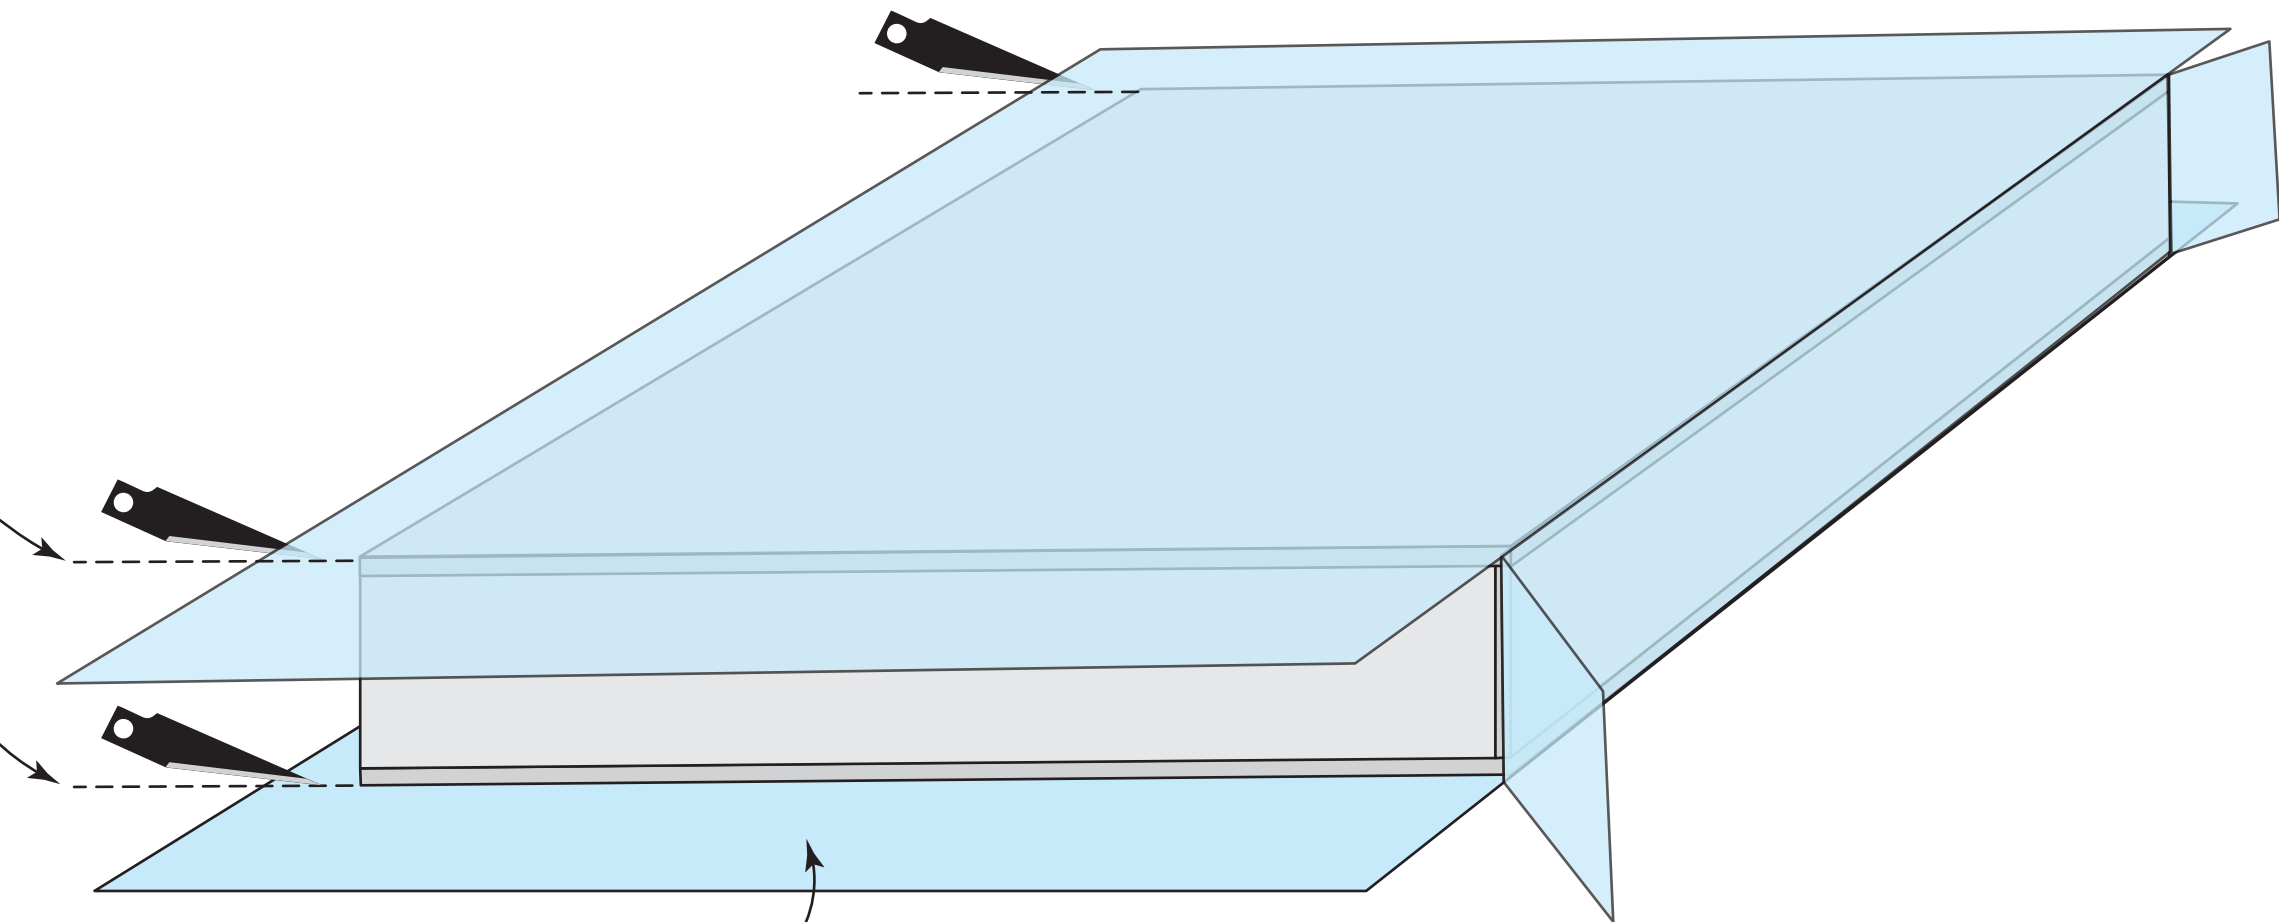

After gluing the spine board, cut 2 slits parallel to the edge from the edge of the box off the edge of the cover cloth (top and bottom).

Wrapping the box

- 9 Apply glue to the front board, and roll the box onto the glue, making the cloth smooth and tight. Burnish the cloth with your bone folder, putting slight creases along the edges.

- 10 After gluing the front board, cut 4 slits parallel to the edge from the edge of the box off the edge of the cover cloth (top and bottom).

- 11 This flap should be trimmed to the width of the box top and bottom.

Wrapping the box

12
Apply glue to the small flaps first, then fold them over the box end and burnish them down.

13
Apply glue to one of the top flaps next, then glue and fold the other. Fold the last-folded edge the same on both ends of the slip case.

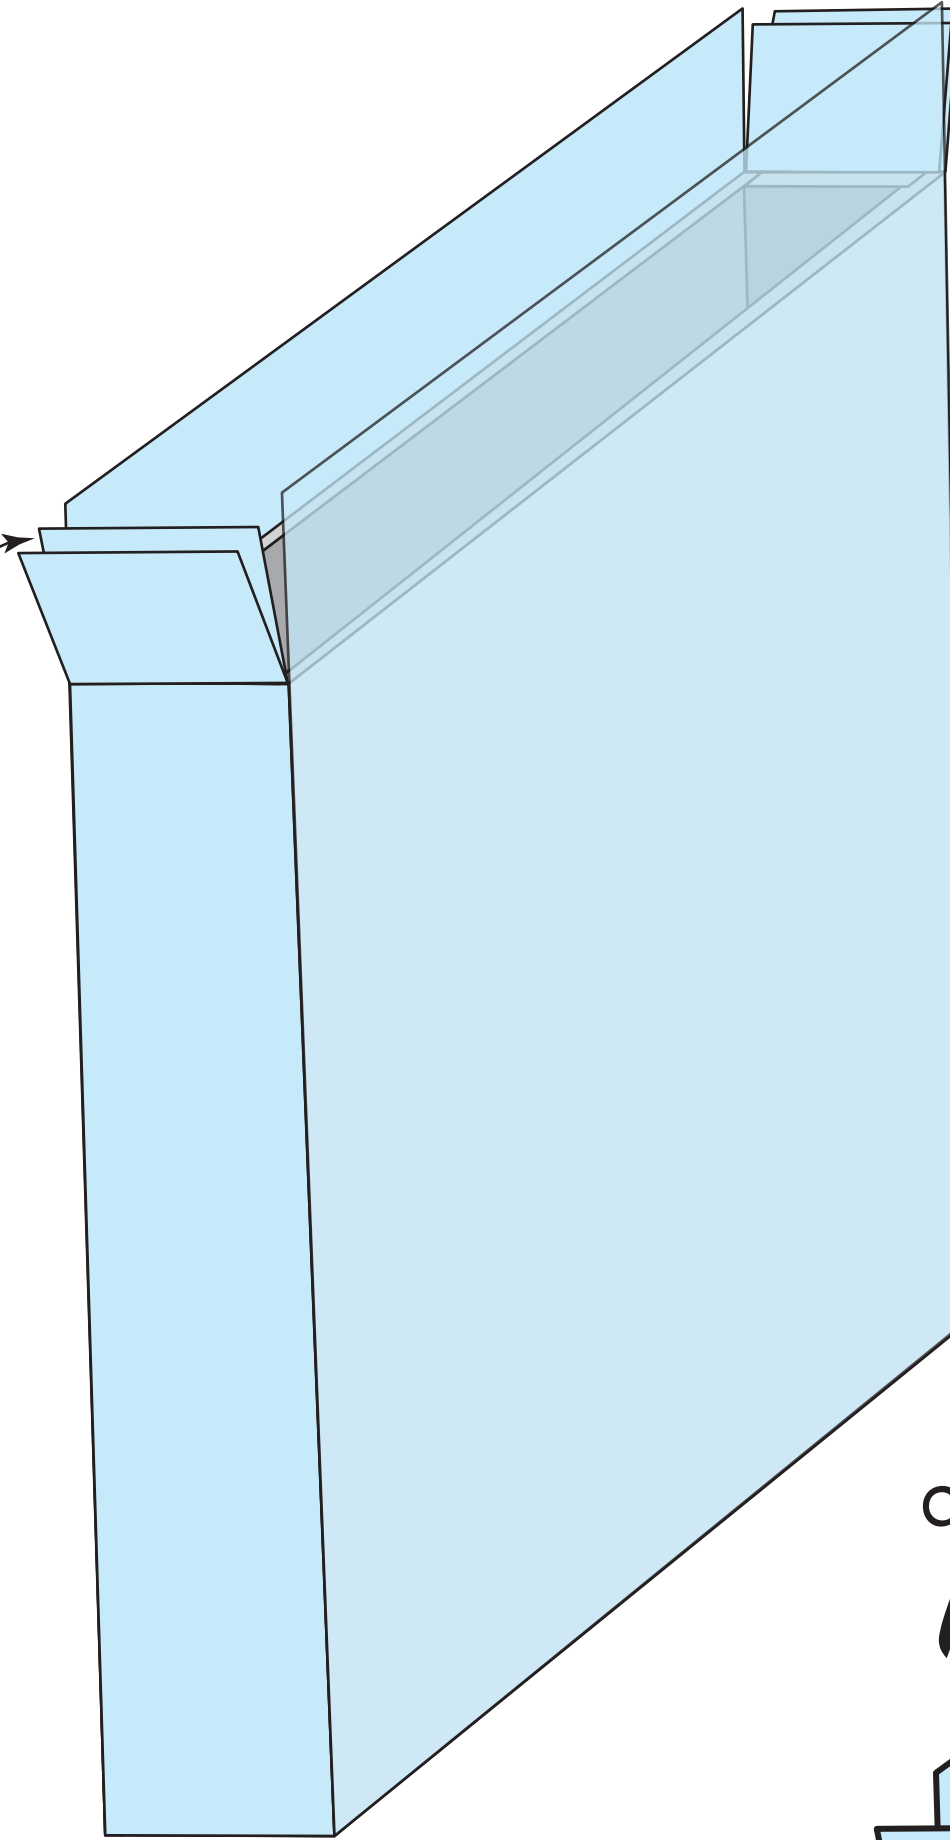

14
Repeat the glue-and-fold on the opposite end.

Wrapping the box

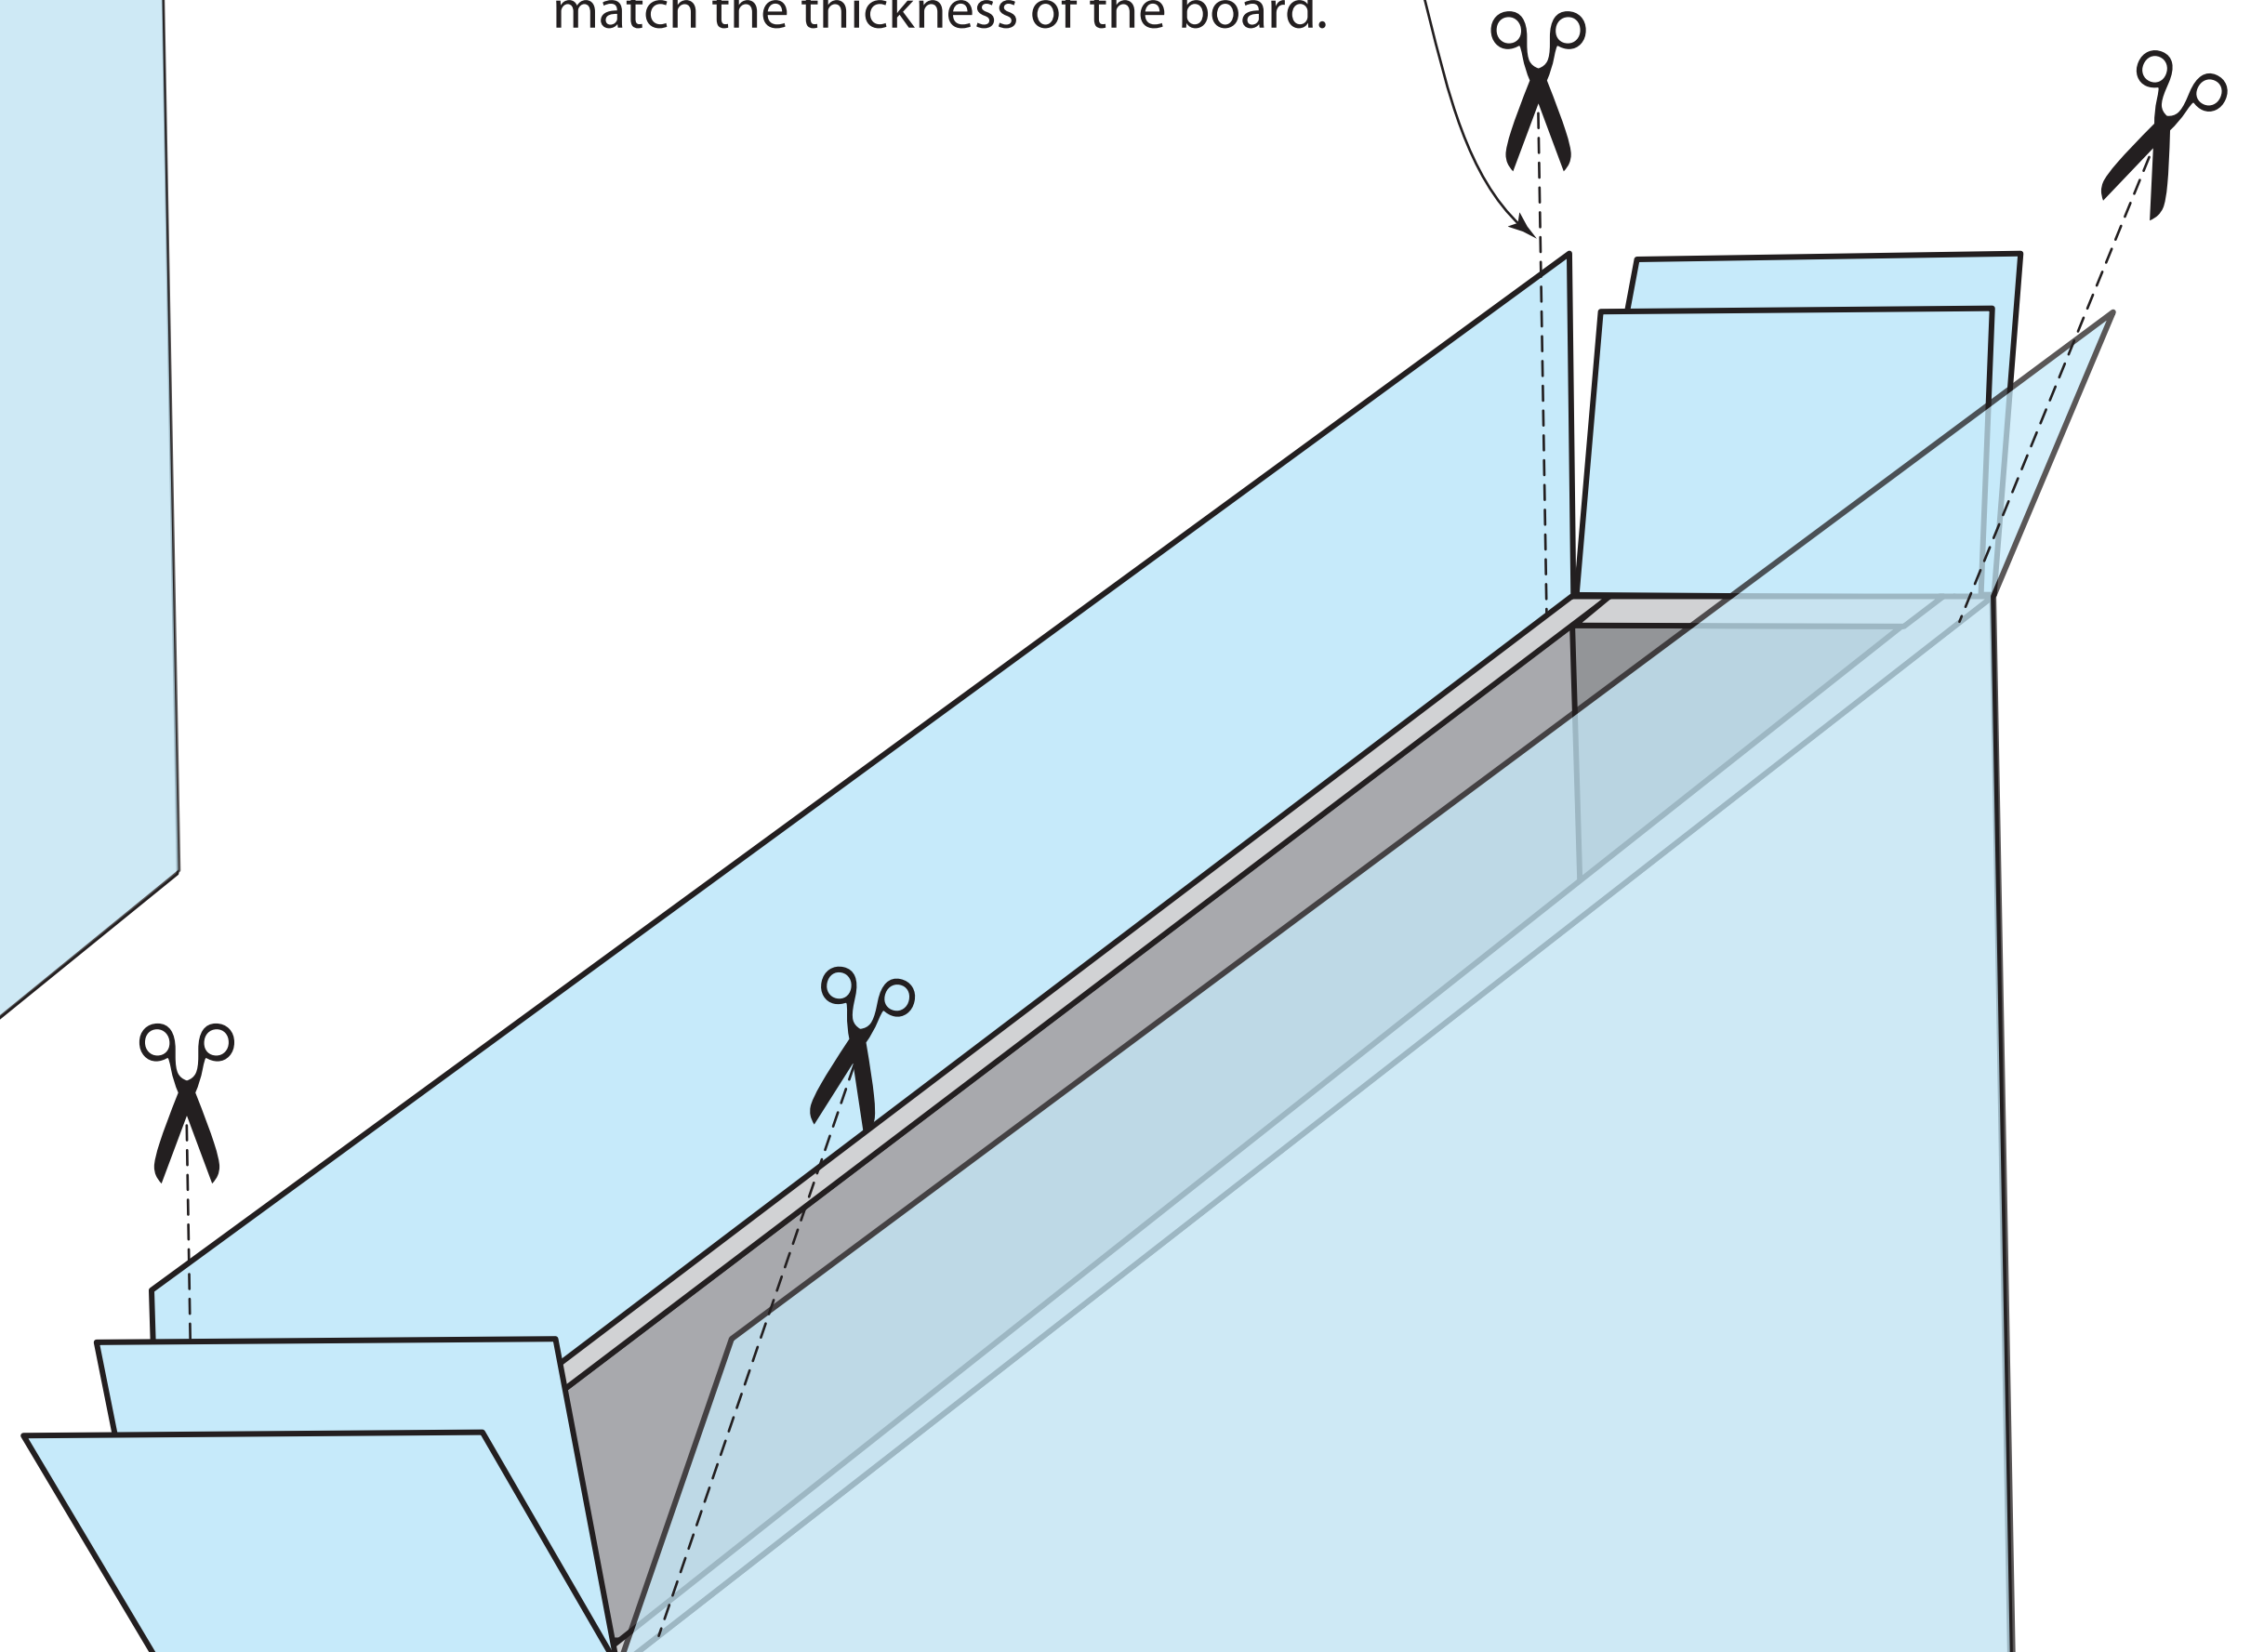

15

Cut the inner flaps off.

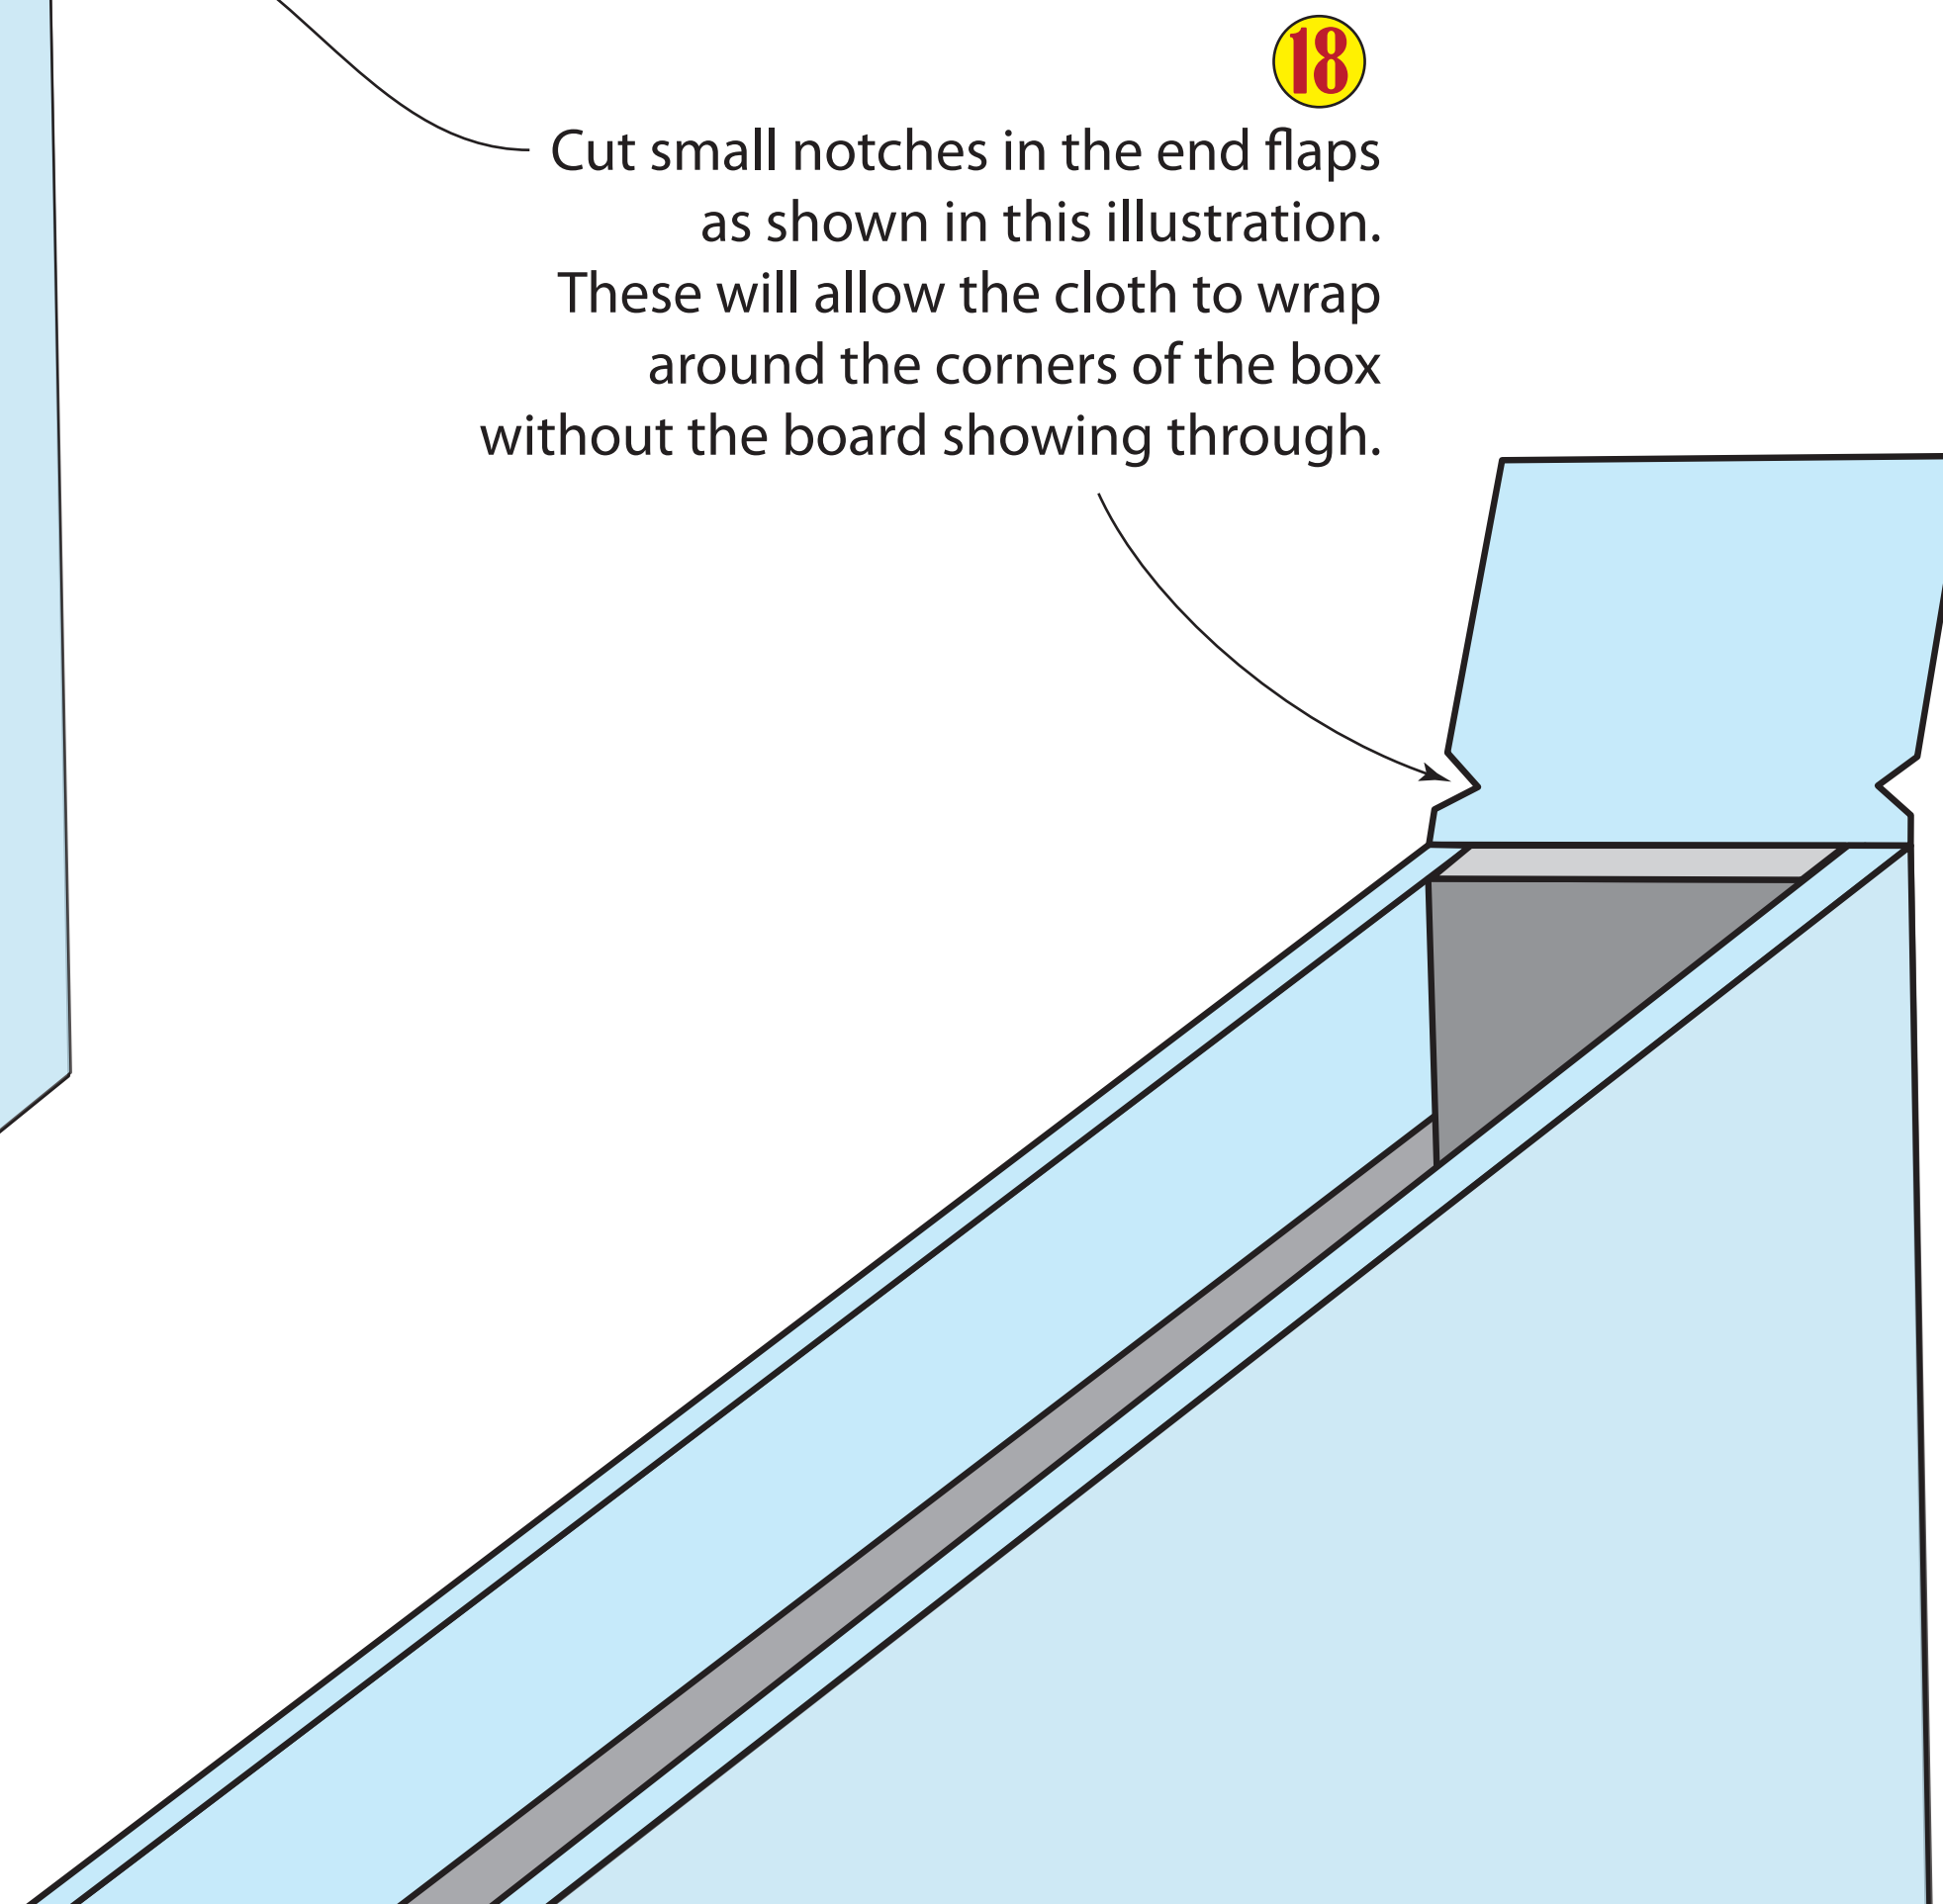

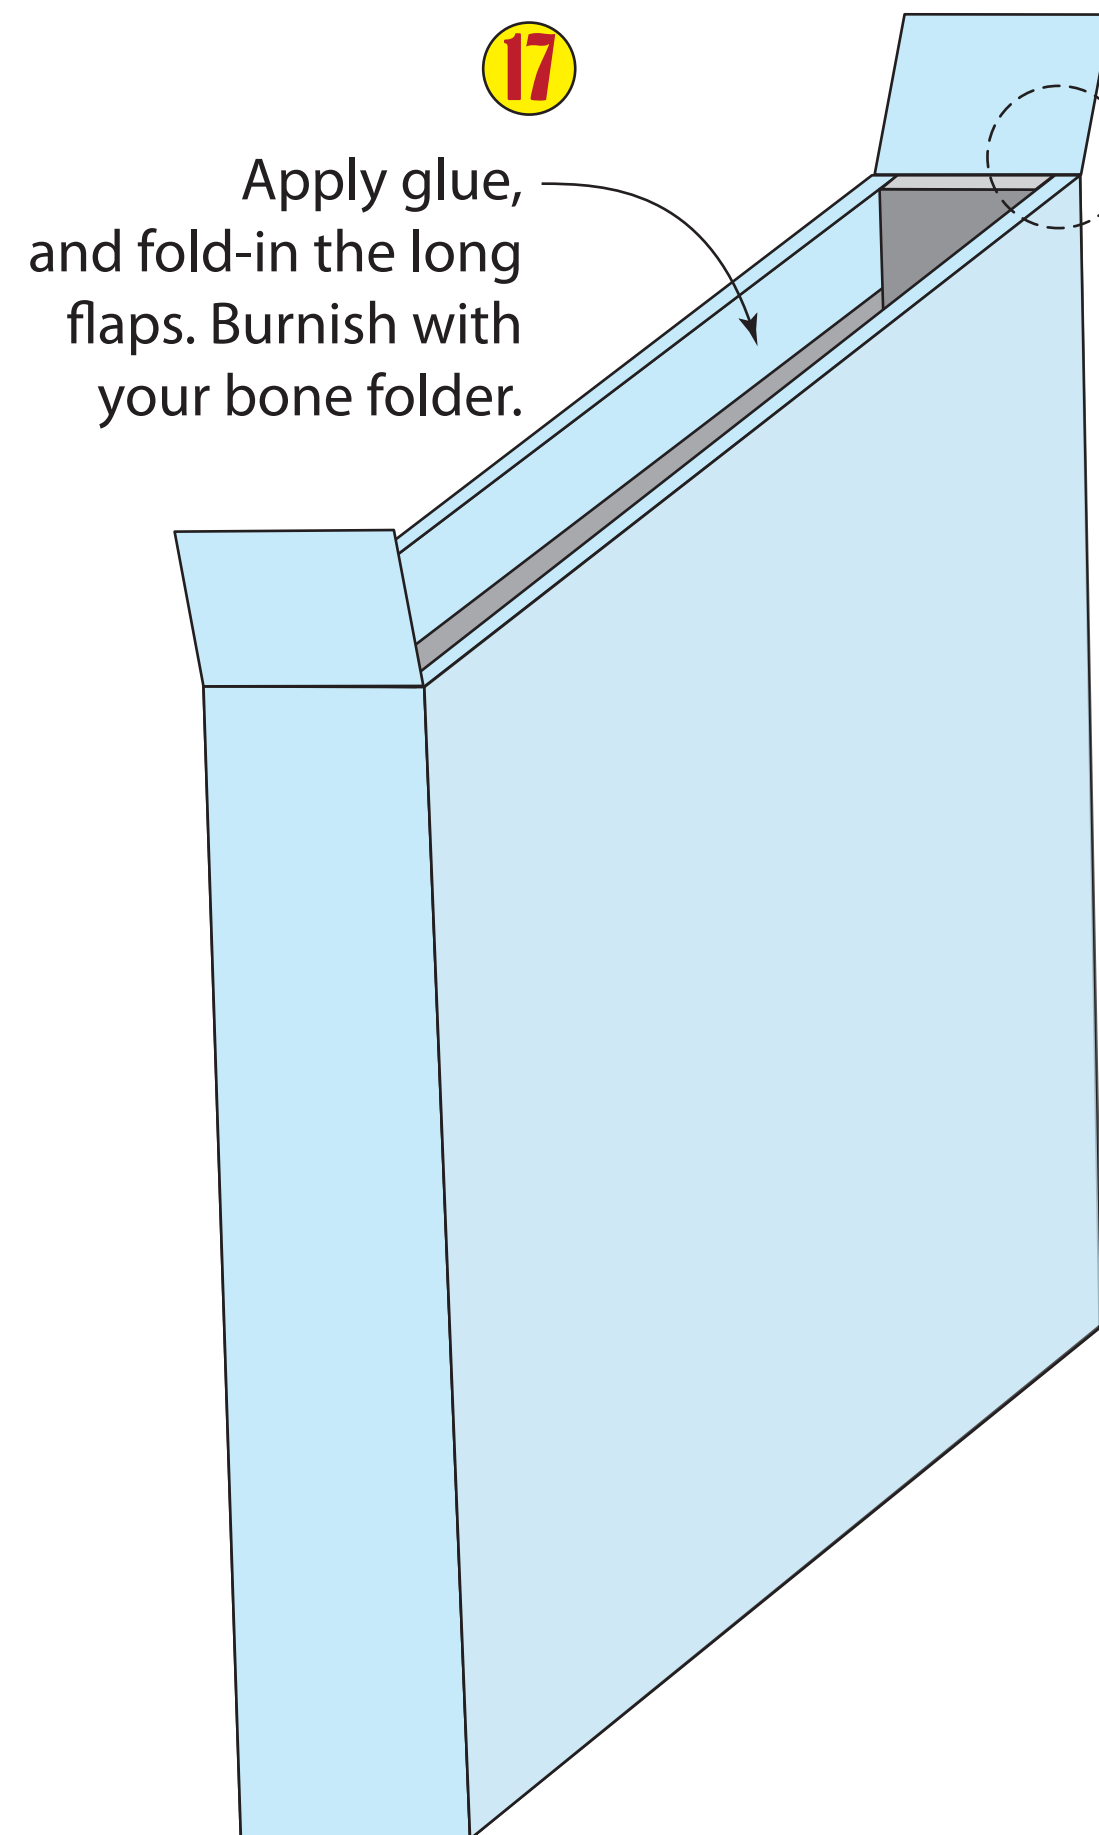

16

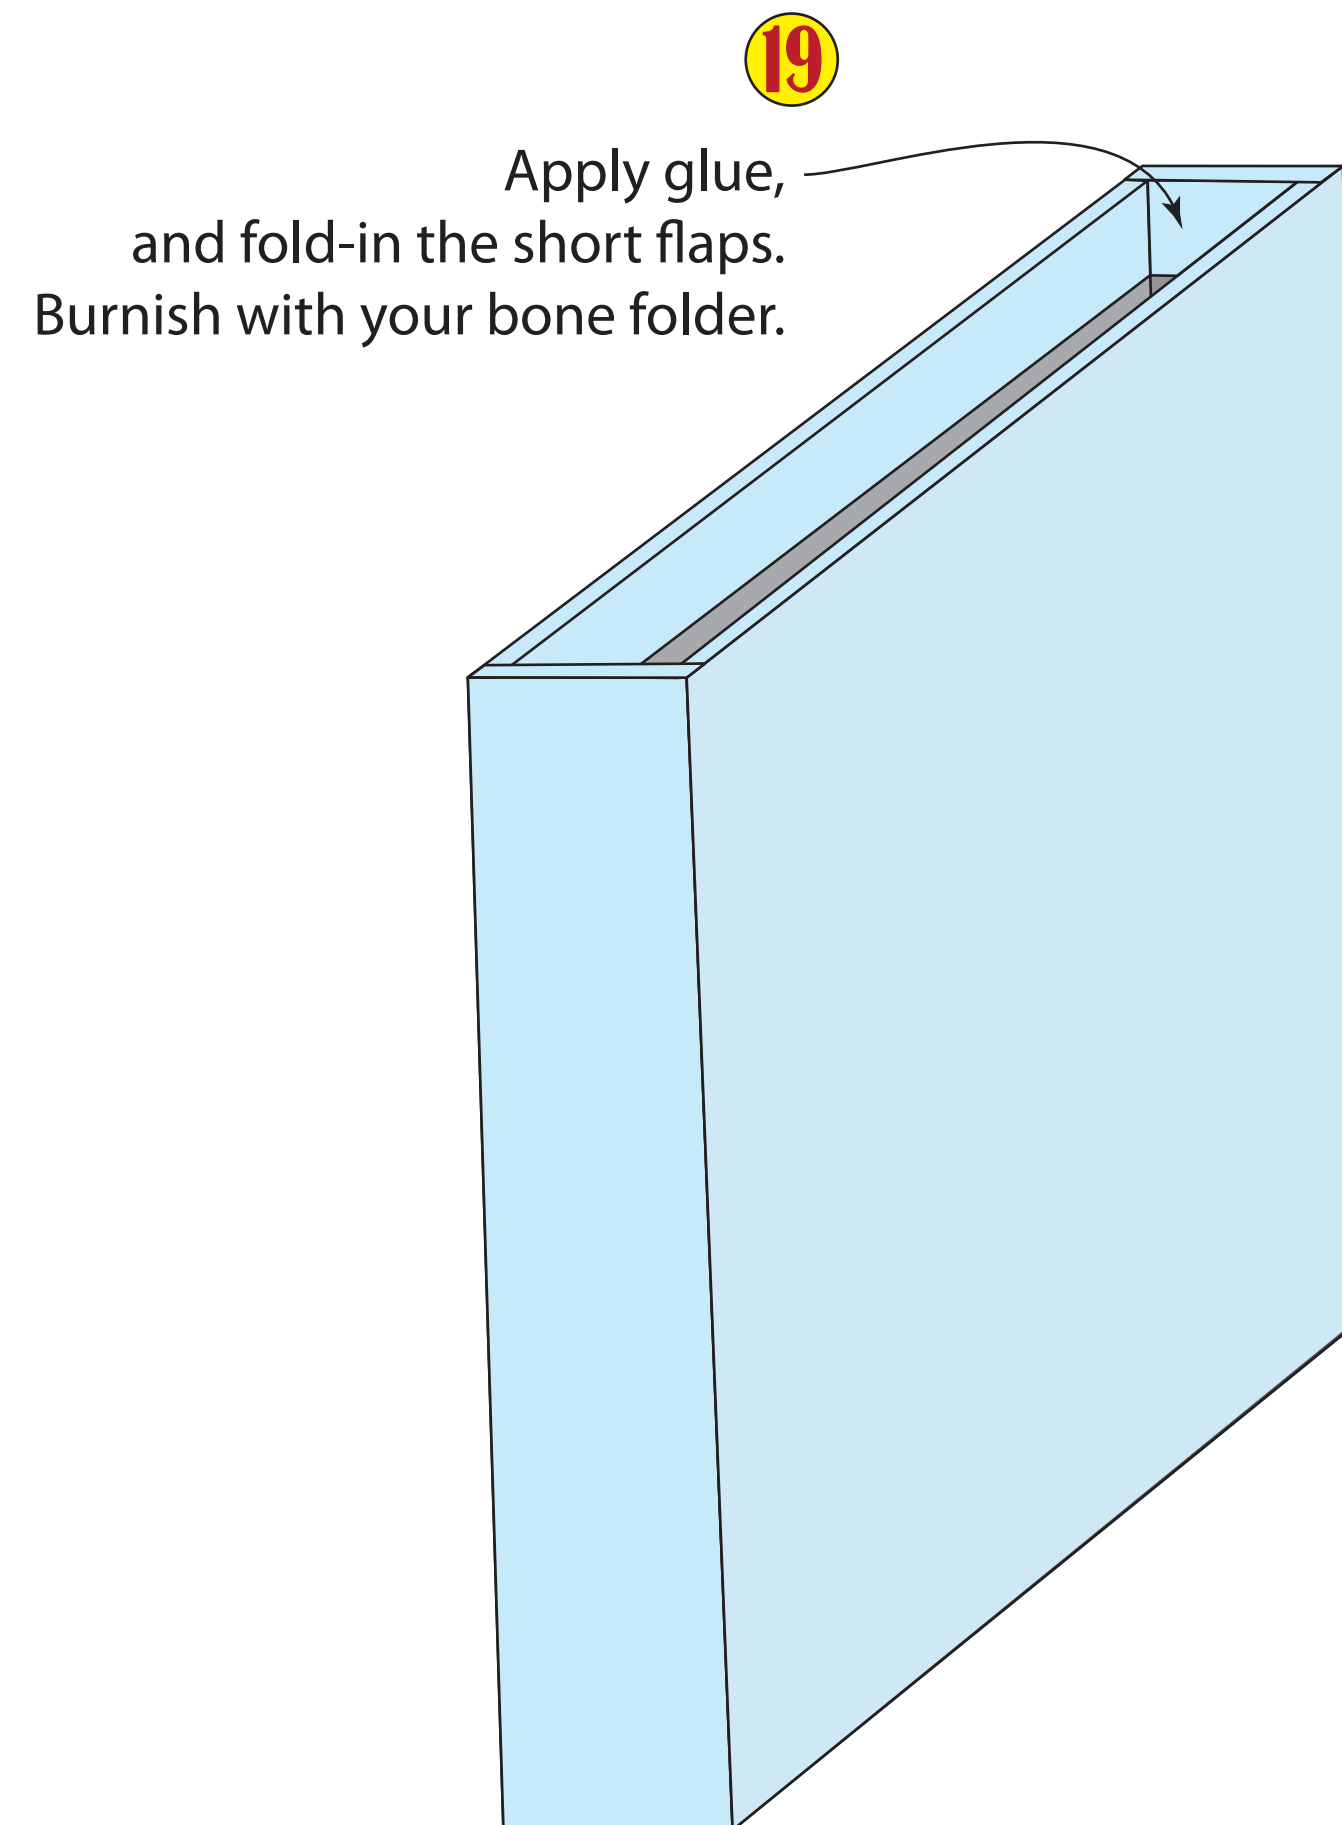

Cut small strips off the ends of the long flaps. These should match the thickness of the board.

Wrapping the box

Wrapping the box

20
You're done!